Venezuelan Coins: 1864-1965

By

WALTER L. JOHNSTON, A.N.A. No. 45893

BECAUSE of the unstable political situation in the early years of Venezuelan history, various types of coins were minted and soon lost in the caverns of political change. In the early development of trade and commerce, coins of many countries were used to supplement barter. During this period the most acceptable and highly prized coin was known as the morocota — the U.S. $20 gold piece. The first Venezuelan gold coin was the 25 bolivar, minted in 1875 at Paris. Foreign coins of many and the 0.20 bolivar — 1879. The single copper coin was a one centavo piece last minted in 1863.

The gold coins were in denominations of 100, 25, 20 and 10 bolivars and were in circulation until the mid-1930s. The experimental silver coins probably dropped out of circulation at the turn of the century, although on rare occasions today a single coin of the 2.50 bolivar or the 20 centimos variety may appear. The copper centavo and the $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{1}{4}$ centavo, minted a little earlier, sorts were widely circulated during Venezuela's early development, especially the smaller coins.

This study is concerned primarily with recent coinage. The period of Venezuelan history known as the Epoch of the United States of Venezuela will be our starting point. This covers the years 1864 to 1953. After 1953 comes the Epoch of the Republic of Venezuela.

Of the 14 monetary units in vogue during the Epoch of the United States of Venezuela, 1864-1953, only seven have survived to the present.

Of the coins that have fallen by the wayside, four were gold, two were silver, and one was copper. The last gold coin was minted in 1930 and all gold coins now are considered collector's items and bring fancy prices when located. The two silver pieces, in the author's estimation, were experimental pieces. The two pieces and the last mintage dates are: 2.50 bolivar — 1876, probably dropped out of the picture because of their extremely low value and the change of the monetary unit at the beginning of this historical era.

At the beginning of the era, the monetary unit was a venezolano but shortly after 1875, it was changed to a bolivar in honor of the liberator, Simon Bolivar. When the changeover was made, the monetary unit dropped in value because each venezolano was equivalent to five bolivars. The only coins actually changing names were the 25 bolivar gold piece — originally called cinco venezolanos (5 venezolanos) minted in 1875 — and the 5 bolivar silver coin minted in 1876, originally called one venezolano (1 venezolano). The bolivar is divided into 100 equal parts, each called a centimo — thus establishing a decimal system so commonly used the world over. This conversion from venezolanos to bolivars left its mark on the coinage of Venezuela, and as a result some terminology exists today that reflects the old monetary unit. For example, the smallest coin minted after 1863 was the five centimo piece but was and still is referred to as a centavo — or 1/100 of a venezolano.

The seven coins currently in use consist of five silver and two nickel coins. The silver coins are in denominations of 5, 2, 1, $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{1}{4}$ bolivar and the nickel coins are $\frac{1}{8}$ and 1/20 bolivar. The decimal equivalent and the more common terms are as follows:

Bs 5.00 —Fuerte
Bs 2.00 —Dos
Bs 1.00 —Bolivar (Slang: bolo)
Bs 0.50 —Real
Bs 0.25 —Medio
Bs 0.12 $\frac{1}{2}$ —Locha (Olden times: cuartillo)
Bs 0.05 —Centavo (Slang: puya)

The purpose of this article is to bring before the numismatic public a tabular resumé of the modern coinage of Venezuela. The true numismatic history of any country can be learned only by digging into indigenous historical records — and this means a familiarity with the language involved. Fortunately for the writer, the original data was compiled by the chief of the numismatic section of the Banco Central de Venezuela—Sra. Mercedes Carlota de Pardo — and published in Spanish in book form in 1961. So to Sra. Pardo and the Banco Central we are indebted for the following tables. The numerical notes are explained at the end of Table VII.

GOLD COINS

(All denominations are in bolivars)

Denomination	Date Minted	Quantity Minted	Mint
100	1886	64,240	Caracas
100	1887
100	1888
100	1889
25 (5V)	1875	69,200	Paris
20	1879	62,500	Brussels
20	1880	62,500	Brussels
20	1886	236,381	Caracas
20	1887
20	1888
20	1904
20	1905	100,000	Paris
20	1910	100,000	Paris
20	1911	50,000	Paris
20	1912	150,000	Paris
10	1930	500,000	Philadelphia

The 25 bolivars gold piece is quite scarce, and according to the best authorities there are considerably fewer than 69,200 available because dentists, in the latter part of the 1800s, used this fine quality gold for making inlays and other teeth repairs.

The 10 bolivar piece minted in 1930 was a commemorative coin in honor of Simon Bolivar, and was used as legal tender for a very short time.

Gold coins held in reserve in the Central Bank of Venezuela include:

Denomination	Number of Pieces	Face Value
100	119	11,900
25	208	5,200
20	33,457	66,914
10	213,314	2,133,140
FOR TOTAL (FACE VALUE)		Bs 2,217,154

Gold coins deposited in the Central Bank of Venezuela and held in custody for the national government of Venezuela consist of 240,000 pieces of Bs 10 for a total face value of Bs 2,400,000.

Thus, the number of Bs 10 gold pieces available for collectors is not the half million pieces minted but is 500,000 minus 213,314 held by Central Bank of Venezuela and also minus the 240,000 held in custody for the national government of Venezuela. Thus we have only 46,686 gold 10 bolivar pieces available. Other denominations also are reduced by the number held by the Central Bank of Venezuela.

EXPLANATION OF NUMERICAL FOOTNOTES

¹During the period 1886-1887-1888-1889, the official mint for Venezuela was in Caracas. During this four-year period, no records are available as to coinage of specific pieces for specific years — only the total number of individual pieces produced during this four-year period is available. Coins are available for all four dates but usually are worn practically smooth due to the poor strikes.

²During these dates, Venezuela called in extremely worn coins and had them restruck. The value for the years when restrikes were produced are known but very seldom is the actual quantity of an individual coin restruck recorded. When this known quantity is given, a footnote will be used for that individual coin and year — e.g. 1935 one bolivar piece explained in (3).

³In 1935, the one bolivar piece was struck 5,000,000 times and there were an additional 1,000,000 restrikes.

⁴The quantity minted on this date includes 400,000 restrikes.

⁵The quantity minted on this date includes 600,000 restrikes.

⁶The total quantity on this date were restrikes.

⁷These coins were struck from a copper-nickel material and carry the characteristic copper appearance.

⁸Because of overloaded facilities at the Philadelphia mint, a private mint in Waterbury, Conn., was used during these two years. The Philadelphia mint had the contract and was held responsible, but the work of producing the coins was sublet to the private mint.

⁹Because of quantities required, the coins on these two dates were minted but no exact record was compiled as to quantity during each year.

Diamond Anniversary Convention

About this time each year it is expected that the general chairman of the coming A.N.A. convention will start making predictions that he is hopeful of having the grandest and best convention so far. It would be far out to out-Texas the Texans by saying that ours will be bigger and better than last year's, even though it will be!

People attend numismatic conventions for a variety of reasons, a few of which are: participation in the bourse activity, examination of exhibit material, attending educational talks and lectures, to renew numismatic acquaintances, and — this could go on and on. Whatever is done at a numismatic convention, the Chicago Diamond Jubilee is bound to have it and more. Yes, the general committee is wide open to new ideas and acceptable innovations. Just try sending one to us!

Each year the A.N.A. convention grows more interesting and, usually, bigger. Affiliated numismatic organizations may take this opportunity to hold their own meetings, banquets, displays, etc., simultaneously or prior to the convention proper. We hope and expect to have ample space and time for all such ancillary activities, but please do let us know your wants and timing. If at all possible it will be scheduled to fit the program. But, it is a must — let us know early.

Facilities allow space for only 100 dealers without crowding. At this writing there are over 200 applicants. Selecting from among the applicants for bourse tables is the activity of a special A.N.A. committee. Neither the general chairman nor any convention committee member has any part in allocating bourse space. Application forms were mailed to all who submitted a "red card" request before January 15. Therefore, applications for bourse space should have been sent to the designated A.N.A. committee by the time you read this.

Ample display cases will be on hand for both competitive and noncompetitive exhibits. As yet it is undecided, but the question is open to limit competitors to a single exhibit category in order to spread awards to the maximum number of participants. All displays will receive an exhibitor's medal whether or not a winner in competition.

Later there will be an announcement regarding exhibit space. However, should you be in a hurry, send a request to the general chairman and it will be referred to the exhibit committee and an answer will be forthcoming in ample time to plan and prepare your exhibit. Be a sport! Compete in one exhibit class only and leave open to others a chance to compete in theirs.

Convention security will be available to all members of A.N.A., commencing at noon Monday, August 15, and will continue until noon the following Monday, August 22. Please be careful! At the time of registration in the Congress Hotel, you will be provided a key (two if you need them) to your room. Do not turn this key in until after checking out to leave. No one can ask the room clerk for a key to your room without meeting the hotel's security force. Not even you!

Speaking of hotel reservations, rate and reservation cards are being sent out with correspondence. Unless you specify in your request for a room reservation that it is for the A.N.A. convention, or use the special rate and reservation card, the hotel will not accept it. The hotel has close to 1000 rooms, practically all reserved for our convention since no other activity is scheduled during our week. But do not delay; if you don't have a reservation card, write to me for one and send it in early — and specify A.N.A.

Ladies' activities? Yes. Ladies' hospitality room? Yes. Open to all who register and have the official A.N.A. convention badge. I mustn't tell you more because I'm not in charge of ladies.

And the badges? In honor of the Diamond Anniversary, there will be a real diamond in each badge. Those of you who cannot attend in person may obtain a badge by advance registration. The convention badge will be issued in bronze and will not be produced in any other form or metal. Information will be made available soon on advance registrations for the convention.

The A.N.A. medals committee is planning a 75th anniversary medal to be available at the convention, but we of the Chicago convention committee are not a part of this activity. However, there will be no design similarity between the Diamond Anniversary medal and the convention badge, but there will be enough of each for everyone who wants one.

The convention auction, as has been announced previously, will be conducted by Abe Kosoff of Encino, Calif. There may be 3 or 4 auction sessions, although at this date it is an open question. Building fund donations of numismatic items will be auctioned during the convention. If you intend to donate such material, it should be sent direct to Kosoff, whose advertisements appear separately in The Numismatist.

Yes, there will be an educational forum, tours, business meetings, and a banquet with entertainment. Sorry, no water skiing in the hotel pool — but we've got Lake Michigan only a couple of blocks away. You'll be reading more soon but you'd better start planning now to be with us.

We adopted this theme several years ago in Chicago and it is still pertinent: Chicago, Numismatic Crossroads of the World — Eventually, Everything and Everybody Comes to Chicago. Remember the convention dates: August 16-17-18-19-20, 1966. Plan your vacation in and around it. Come early and stay late. — HARRY X BOOSEL, General Chairman, P. O. Edward Boehme, Sr.

A.N.A. No. 36686

Edward Boehme, Sr., of St. Louis, died November 10 at St. Anthony Hospital in that city following several heart attacks in about a week's time. A member of Plumbers' Local Union No. 35 for 25 years and a past elder and deacon of the Brandt Memorial Presbyterian Church, Boehme was 57 years of age.

While not a collector of long standing, he was an enthusiastic participant and an energetic supporter of his local numismatic organization. He was president of the Missouri Numismatic Society of St. Louis from December, 1960, through August, 1962; board chairman through August, 1964; and vice president the following year. He was the Society's official A.N.A. representative from 1964 to his untimely death, a faithful attendant of local, regional and national numismatic shows and conventions, and a frequent exhibitor of outstanding material. In the 1965 National Coin Week competition, Boehme was one of the two individuals in the country cited with honorable mention.

Services were conducted by Rev. Bert Faison, pastor of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, on November 13 and burial was in Sunset Cemetery. Six officers of the Missouri Numismatic Society served as pallbearers. Survivors include his widow, Caroline, son Edward Boehme, Jr., two sisters and three grandchildren.

An affable, cooperative and personable gentleman of high character, Boehme's presence and effective contributions to the Society will be missed greatly by his fellow members and friends; and the Society extends its deepest sympathy to his survivors, friends and associates. — BFS

Dates on Russian Coins

By

EDGAR C. B. PASH, A.N.A. No. 32380

THE use of Cyrillic letters to denote the date on some Russian coins falls into two categories: Slavic and ecclesiastic. The former is merely another way of representing the numerical equivalent of the actual date, while the latter is a method of determining the date, complete and distinct from Anno Domini. This may appear odd, perhaps even complex, at first glance, but once you possess the key and recognize the significance it becomes easy. Thus a brief excursion into Russian history, supplemented by a table of values, should make this quite clear.

Russia (986-989 A. D.) by 100 years, two Greek monks, Saints Cyril and Methodius, brought the Eastern rites of the Catholic church (Orthodoxy) to the pagan southern Slavs. Also they were instrumental in providing these illiterate people with an alphabet which we know as Cyrillic. Eventually Christianity came to ancient Russia, and Vladimir, grand prince of Kiev, proclaimed that his people were to be baptized into the Greek Orthodox faith. Although separation of church and state did exist, we cannot deny the strong influence of the church as represented by the monasteries, as they were the principal seats of learning. An example of this was the acceptance and use of the ecclesiastic calendar as the official calendar of the Russian states.

The ecclesiastic calendar was based on the Biblical creation of the world, i. e., March 21, 5909 B. C. Each subsequent new year, however, began on March 1. This was changed in the late 15th century, probably in 1492, and the new year began on September 1. Because the Dominical letters were used, the year was represented in letters rather than in numerals. The use of ecclesiastic dates on Russian coins was limited to a short period of her numismatic history.

Russian coins in any substantial quantities were first struck in the late 1300s and the early ones did not bear any date; coins bearing ecclesiastic dates refer primarily to the period between the late 16th and the early 17th centuries. The calendar itself remained in effect until the end of the 17th century.

The year 1689 A. D. is significant in Russian history. It is the year in which Peter I, founder of the city of Petrograd (now Leningrad), ascended the Russian throne. He was perhaps the most enlightened ruler of his era. He promulgated many reforms designed to orient his people toward their culturally developed and advanced European neighbors and away from the prevailing influence of the east. One such reform dealt with changing the calendar. On December 15 of the year 7208 (1699 A. D.) he issued a royal decree proclaiming the day following December 31 of that year would become January 1, 1700 A. D., according to the Julian calendar. Although this was accepted grudgingly, the people clung to vestiges of the past and both numerals and letters (Slavic date) were employed to represent the modern date. After 1725 the Slavic date no longer was used. The Julian calendar continued in official use until the fall of the Russian empire in 1917, even though the Gregorian calendar was used extensively throughout the rest of Europe. On January 26, 1918, the Council of Peoples Commissars, R.S.F.S.R., passed a resolution proclaiming the Gregorian calendar would be introduced on February 1, 1918, which date automatically would become February 14, 1918.

It is not difficult to distinguish between the ecclesiastic date and the Slavic, and to compute the former. The first step is to change the letters representing the date into their numerical equivalents; at this point it is possible to determine whether the date is ecclesiastic or Slavic. Since the ecclesiastic calendar begins 6800 years before any Russian coins were struck, any date greater than this is ecclesiastic whereas the Slavic dates will fall between the numbers 1700 and 1725. If the date is determined to be ecclesiastic, the next step is to subtract 5509 from this figure and obtain the Anno Domini date. (Example: To find the A. D. year of a coin bearing the date

By replacing the letters with numerals we obtain 7163; subtracting 5509 we obtain the date 1654 A.D.)

Deadline for receipt of applications for bourse space at the 1966 A.N.A. Diamond Anniversary convention is February 10. Direct your applications to A.N.A. Bourse Committee, 701 N. Negley Ave., Pittsburgh, Penna. 15206.

KNOW YOUR MONEY

On Dec. 16 a news service agency released the photo of a Chicago collector holding an "error" $1 silver certificate, Series 1935D. In appearance the note was very similar to the one shown here, which is a framed portion of a full sheet of 18 $1 silver certificates, Series 1935D also. The serial numbers prove that the sheet illustrated in part here, which belongs to Harold R. Klein of Hinsdale, Ill., is the 85th sheet in that series; whereas the cut part shown in the news service photo was the 84th. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing states that the first 100 sheets in this series were delivered to the cash division of the Treasury Dept. for sale as uncut sheets. There could be 9 other phony "error" notes cut from this same sheet, which bear serial numbers from G00000084G to G00136084G. Klein, known to many as A.N.A. treasurer 1949-63 and a governor 1963-65, says that these sheets were printed late in 1952 and that Treasury discontinued selling uncut sheets at the end of 1953.

Total mint production during the first 11 months of 1965 was 7,250,681,858 coins, representing a 30% increase over the production in the 12 months of 1964. November output was the highest in the mint's history, equivalent to an annual rate of about 9.1 billion coins.

International Meeting Report

The following is a report on the work of the First International Congress for the study of and the defense against coin forgery, which took place in Paris on June 3-5, 1965. The Congress was particularly pleased to note the interest shown by two world-wide organizations, UNESCO and INTERPOL, as well as by the Government of the United States, in its efforts to fight against forgery and fraud in coins. M. Jean Mazard, counsellor to the Cour de Cassation, Prof. J. M. de Navascués, director of the National Archaeological Museum of Madrid, and Maître Colin-Martin, barrister from Lausanne, respectively presided over the meetings.

The members of the Congress heard the statements previously announced in the program, regarding the various laws on forged coins. It is apparent that, in most countries, the text of the laws is insufficient to fight efficiently against falsifiers and defrauders. In fact, in numerous countries, the laws are limited to pursuing only the forgery of legal tender. A large majority of the members of the Congress expressed the wish that the laws suppressing forged coins should be completed and extended to include all kinds of coins.

The Congress then passed to the study of the different terms in use in numismatics. On this point it was difficult, in view of the limited time at the disposal of the members, to come to any exact definitions. At the end of the last meeting, the Congress, at the suggestion of M. Jean Mazard and the Swedish delegation, unanimously adopted the following motions:

1. Considering that the right to strike coins is an unalterable and irrevocable privilege of the crown or state, and that coins form part of the official documents of historical value, it was suggested that: The law against the forging and copying of coins that are legal tender should be extended to include all coins, even those which are demonetized, irrespective of the period when they were struck.

2. Considering the mutual dependence of one modern state upon another, it was suggested that: Each state should forbid in its own territory, under the sanction of penal servitude, the reproduction and counterfeiting of foreign coins, even those that have been demonetized, as well as antique coins.

3. Considering that it is sometimes difficult to distinguish a forged piece from a restrike, it was suggested that: If the governments authorized their national mints to make restrikes of coins and medals, they should see that these pieces have distinctive marks on them, which is not removable and is visible to the naked eye, in order to avoid their being confused with the original pieces.

4. Considering that the work of the Congress has brought to light the complete lack, the insufficiency, or the ineffectiveness of the ruling regarding the reproduction of the collector's coins and medals, it was suggested that: The legal services of UNESCO should devote themselves to the exhaustive study of comparative legislation regarding the striking of coins and medals; the said services should establish, after consulting scientific groups and amateur and professional associations, a project that could be adopted by the member states of this organization.

The Congress unanimously decided to form a permanent commission of five members in order to carry out the wishes and motions expressed, and to coordinate the efforts of the members of the International Association of Professional Numismatists in regard to the fight against forgeries. The Congress nominated the following to form this commission: Emile Bourgey, secretary of the commission, 7, rue Drouot, Paris (9°); Xavier Calico, president of the IAPN, Plaza del Angel 2, Barcelona 2; Miguel Munoz, president of the Mexican Numismatic Society, Apartado 897, Mexico, D. F.; Per-Otto Nordin, assistant delegate of the Swedish Numismatic Society, 19, rue du Dr-Blanche, Paris (16°); Matt H. Rothert, president of American Numismatic Association, P. O. Box 10, Camden, Arkansas 71701. — EM. BOURGEY, Secretary.

A Fable to Ponder

SEVERAL years ago we expressed a desire to receive some editorial material for The Numismatist. The lack of response was attributed to so many numismatists (?) being busy watching the ticker tape quotations on 1950-D nickels, etc. Watching quotations seems to be somewhat less of a pastime (less lucrative, at least) lately, yet there is no rush to write editorials.

All of this is by way of explaining why we had to turn to other sources, although perhaps not why we turned to such an obvious one as Aesop's Fables. If you are well read and observing, you should notice that a few changes have been made, but credit for the idea still belongs to that legendary wit and sage. Having reached this point, hesitate not to proceed.

Once upon a time a miller and his son were driving their ass to a neighboring fair to sell him. They hadn't gone far when they met a troop of girls returning from the town, talking and laughing. "Look here!" cried one of them, "did you ever see such fools, to be trudging along the road on foot when they might be riding." The old man, hearing this, quietly bade his son get on the ass, and walked along merrily by the side of him. Presently they came upon a group of old men in earnest debate. "There!" said one of them (probably an editor — they are always speaking out), "that proves what I was a-saying. What respect is shown to old age in these days? Do you see that idle young rogue riding while his old father has to walk? — Get down, you scapegrace, and let the old man rest his weary limbs." Whereupon the father made his son dismount and got up on the ass himself.

In this manner they had not proceeded far when they met a company of women and children. "Why, you lazy old fellow!" cried several tongues at once, "how can you ride upon the beast while that poor little lad there can hardly keep pace by your side?" The good-natured miller (he got that way trying to be agreeable with customers) stood corrected and immediately took up his son behind him.

By now they had almost reached the town. "Pray, honest friend," said a townsman, "is that ass your own?" "Yes," said the old man. "Oh! One would not have thought so," said the (city slicker), "by the way you load him. Why, you two fellows are better able to carry the poor beast than he you." "Anything to please you," said the old man, "we can but try." So, alighting with his son, they tied the ass's legs together and by the help of a pole endeavored to carry him on their shoulders over a bridge that led into the town.

This was so entertaining a sight that people ran out in crowds to laugh at it. At last the ass, not liking the noise nor his situation, kicked asunder the cords that bound him and, tumbling off the pole, fell into the river. Upon this the old man, vexed and ashamed, made the best of his way home again, convinced that by trying to please everybody he had pleased nobody, and had lost his beast into the bargain.

Not unlike the poor miller, the A.N.A. receives much advice from bystanders, some of whom probably have an axe to grind. Of course, much of it is well meant although, unhappily, is not very practical or in keeping with the association's objectives.

Constructive suggestions and criticisms are welcomed by board members, particularly if coming from thinking members who have been thorough in outlining and examining their proposals. Some publishers and others who use the numismatic press for venting sharp criticism are doing little or no good for the hobby or the A.N.A.

"Sit on the steps of the Capitol and shout at Congress." "Build it here." "Build it there." "I won't donate a cent toward any building anywhere." "Act in haste — there's plenty of time to change it." "Stop this malpractice." "Contribute to us, we'll do the job right." "See what I did — why didn't you do it?" "Stop thefts and robberies of homes, cars, shops, and office safes."

Yes, Mr. Aesop was right: You can't please everyone. At best, you'll accomplish nothing by trying. At worst, you'll lose your chance to achieve some good.

From the President's Desk

Our new membership application blanks contain the Code of Ethics of the American Numismatic Association. The Code has been published in The Numismatist several times. Become familiar with these statements. One sentence reads: "I agree to base all of my dealings on the highest plane of justice, fairness, and morality;" and again: "I agree to take immediate steps to correct any error I may make in any transaction." No one is perfect, but we must all try to do what is right at all times.

Reread the paragraphs on counterfeits, copies, restrikes and reproductions. Possibly the last sentence is the most important for the average collector, our grass roots membership, our new members, our young members, — "I agree to give aid to members in their quest for numismatic knowledge." Being able to give truthful information to other members is a privilege and an honor that we should guard carefully. If we cannot answer members' inquiries, we can refer them to an authority or suggest a book or an article on the subject. We all are, and we should be, in quest of numismatic knowledge.

In our unique and perpetual Federal Charter, Sec. 3 states: "That the objects of the said corporation shall be to advance the knowledge of numismatics along educational, historical and scientific lines in all its various branches; to assist in bringing about better cooperation between all persons interested in the coinage, circulation, classification, collection, sales, exhibition, use and preservation of all coins, bills, and medals; to acquire and disseminate trustworthy information bearing upon these topics; to promote greater popular interest in the science of numismatology, and for the particular purpose of bringing the numismatists of America into closer relations with one another, and of promoting friendly feeling for one another through social intercourse, the interchange of ideas and discussions of mutual interest, . . ."

These words are so important they bear repeating. We must keep our eyes on this goal, our course always directed toward these objectives. We plan to increase our membership services, to improve these that we now enjoy. We will strengthen our Edward T. Newell visual education program, our reprint program, our library program, our assistance to member clubs, and our great National Coin Week program.

We hope you like the "new" look of The Numismatist. It results from your replies to the questionnaire that you sent to our committee last year. Some of the improvements may not be as obvious as the two-color cover. Columns and pictures are a bit wider, headings are hand-lettered or in a new style type, cut-lines under pictures are in a very distinctive type, and the "Club News" section has been transferred to the monthly Club Bulletin. Comparison of this or the January issue will reveal these and other changes which we believe make for a more attractive magazine which is easier to read.

Use that membership application form which incorporates the Code of Ethics to sign up a new member who can enjoy The Numismatist every month. If you do not have a blank, write to A. N. A., P. O. Box 16243, Phoenix, Ariz. 85011, requesting some. Remember: Collectors Here to Stay Join the A.N.A. — MATT H. ROTHERT, President

Report from Australia

According to the latest report from our friend and correspondent Sydney V. Hagley of Beaumont, South Australia, the new decimal 1 and 2 cent bronze coins are being made now at the Perth, Melbourne and Canberra mints (without mintmarks). The new 50 cent piece in silver (80%) is currently produced at Canberra only, the 5, 10 and 20 cent coins in copper-nickel are struck now at the Royal Mint in London, England. No proof coins or sets will be available until late in 1966. Plans for the change over to the decimal system on February 14, 1966 are well advanced and little or no difficulty is anticipated. Our correspondent promised to send us coins for illustration as soon as they can be obtained by him. As very large quantities of these coins have been struck, no coin-shortage is expected.

Correction

December issue, page 1852 — G. A. Brichford, ANA LM 476, is a resident of Rome and not of Bermuda as stated. He donated the new Dante commemorative to the ANA collection, which we do appreciate.

Notes & Queries

Treasury Notes

An opinion cannot be given concerning the authenticity of your coin without examining it, states the Director of the Mint, better known to many collectors as Miss Eva Adams. You may, if you wish, send it there for inspection by the technical staff. However, if any coin submitted to that office is found to be counterfeit, or otherwise in contravention of the law, it will not be returned. Such pieces are delivered to the Chief of the United States Secret Service for appropriate action.

Inquiries are made at times as to the reason the letter "V" is used in the word "TRUST" on certain coins. In medieval times the letters "U" and "V" were used interchangeably. These letters were not given separate alphabetical listings in English dictionaries until about 1800. In recent times many sculptors have used "V" in place of "U" for artistic reasons, such as to represent the permanence and long-time significance of their work. Prominent examples are the use of "V" in spelling "TRUST" on the Peace dollar and on the Alabama commemorative half dollar. Frequently the "V" is used similarly in wording on public buildings.

J. Hunt Deacon Retires

James Hunt Deacon, FRNS, FRNSNZ, the mentor of numismatics in Australia and New Zealand, recently announced his retirement from the situation of Keeper of Coins and Medals in the National Gallery, Adelaide, South Australia. He has been associated with the Gallery since 1918, and in his recent capacity since 1931. His resignation as editor of the Australian Numismatic Journal was announced in its July-September, 1965, issue.

Born in Kent, Deacon has been in South Australia since 1912 when he was 11 years of age. He was a leader in formation of the Numismatic Society of South Australia, served three times as its president, was secretary 1952-58, and editor of its quarterly publication 1952-65. Many scholarly articles, and numerous reviews and news items, have come from his pen.

In addition to titles appended to his name above, he is an Honorary Life Fellow of his own NSSA, an Honorary Member of A.N.A., a past officer of two other Australian numismatic groups, until recently Honorary Numismatologist to the William Dixson collection in Sydney, and an Honorary Member in the West of Scotland and Glasgow Numismatic Society.

While his letter of recent date gave no hint of future plans, we can only hope that his zeal for numismatics and his talent and willingness to write on it will not diminish. To J. Hunt Deacon, of whose kind there are too few, we are happy to extend congratulations for an outstanding numismatic career and best wishes for a rewarding future. — GLENN B. SMEDLEY, Vice Pres., NSSA.

Israel Coin Dies Destroyed

The master, working, and striking dies of all commemorative coins issued to date by the Government of Israel have been destroyed, the Bank of Israel announced Dec. 14 in a letter to the Israel Government Coins and Medals Corp. The dies of 16 commemorative coins were destroyed on Jan. 6, 1965, in the presence of 5 officers of the Bank.

The coins concerned are: Hali shekel, 1961 and 1962; Hanukka coins, 1 pound — Tora Or 1958, Degania 1960, H. Szold 1960, Maccabi 1961, Hanukka 1962 and 1963; Independence Day coins, 5 pounds — Menora 1958, Shavu Banim 1959, Herzl 1960, Bar Mitzva 1961, Pituah 1962; gold coins — Herzl 20 pounds 1960, Weizman 50 pounds 1962 and 1963, Weizman 100 pounds 1962 and 1963, Bank of Israel 50 pounds 1964.

Previously announced was the destruction, on Sept. 20, 1965, of the three Israel silver Independence Day commemorative crowns. Therefore, with this most recent announcement, the dies of all commemorative coins issued to date by the Bank of Israel have been destroyed, thereby preventing their re-issue at a future date.

Numismatic Courses

Maurice M. Gould is trying to compile a list of all the educational programs in numismatics being held throughout the United States and Canada. He requests that instructors and students send pertinent information, regardless of the phase of numismatics covered, to him at P. O. Box 141, Chestnut Hill, Mass. 02167. He will make the information available to numismatic publications so that all may know where and what is taking place in the educational field.

Christmas "Coin"

The Franklin Mint has issued its first annual Christmas "coin," featuring a "Peace on Earth" motif sculptured by Gilroy Roberts. Encased in an attractive red velvet folder with "Season's Greetings" in gold, this may become the first of a series of numismatic greeting cards for all occasions. The issue was limited to 250 pure silver proofs, 39 mm. dia., struck primarily for presentation to UN delegates and other world leaders, and less than 10,000 proof-like specimens struck exclusively for stockholders of General Numismatic Corp. The latter are of a special cupro-nickel-columbium alloy developed by the Franklin Mint and called "franklinium II." The dies were presented to the Smithsonian Institution the day before Christmas, and no additional pieces of this design will be struck.

President Joseph M. Segel of General Numismatics issued a silver piece in a blue folder labeled "New Issue" to announce the arrival of Alan Jeffery to the Segel family on Nov. 11, 1965. The obverse of the dollar size piece, sculptured by Gilroy Roberts, depicts the familiar stork carrying a baby, with the announcement "It's a Boy." Vital statistics about the Segel's new son were shown on the reverse of the attractive piece.

Thailand Coin Sets

The following letters regarding new Thai coin sets were forwarded to us by Earl S. Sparlin, A.N.A. 52003, to whom we express our appreciation. Some collectors not interested in obtaining the sets may find the information useful.

Dear Sirs:

It is our pleasure to inform you about our new set of Thai coins in Thai silk presentation case. It is a set of Thai coins recently issued in the reign of H. M. King Bhumibol Adulyadej, our present king. The set contains 30 pieces in seven denominations representing the Thai coins issued in the period of this reign. They are shown in pairs, the obverse and reverse of each denomination under 6 classified groups according to metallic contents and respective dates and events of commemoration.

Condition of the coins is classified as brilliant uncirculated. They are selected from those in mint condition and brilliantly polished afterward. The mint produces no proof sets as such, because we are so busy in producing the regular coins that we have no time to prepare special dies and blanks for striking proof sets for collectors.

The date shown on the coins is the date of issue for that type of coin. It is not the date at which the coins were struck, as the mint continues to use the original date of issue although the coins are minted in succeeding years as well.

The presentation case is a wooden box of about 12 inches long by 7 inches wide and 1¼ inches high. It is covered on the outside with a piece of fine Thai silk in brilliant red or blue. On top the lid bears the grand image of the mythological paradise bird, the insignia of the Ministry of Finance, in metallic gold color. It is intended to produce only 100,000 sets of this type collection at the distributed cost of U.S. $20 per set, including air mail and other necessary charges.

The second letter refers to a set of three commemorative coins issued in honor of the 36th birthday of King Bhumibol Adulyadej on Dec. 5, 1963. These coins show no date. It consists of one 20 baht coin and two 1 baht coins mounted in a presentation case. These sets are available for collectors at U.S. $10 per set, including sea mail.

The 20 baht piece is struck on an alloy of 75 percent silver and 25 percent copper. The obverse bears a portrait in profile of King Bhumibol with lettering showing his name in full, and also mentioning the event of "Three Cycles of Life." The reverse bears the symbols of king utilities (crown, sword, walking stick, fan, shoes) with lettering showing denomination and the word "Thai Government." The edge is reeded by 128 lines.

The 1 baht piece is struck on an alloy of 25 percent nickel and 75 percent copper. The obverse bears a portrait in profile of King Bhumibol with lettering showing his name in short and also stating the event of "Three Cycles of Life." The reverse bears the emblem of his personal seal with lettering stating denomination and the word "Thai Government." The edge is reeded by 128 lines.

Respectively, the diameters are 35 mm. and 27 mm., the weights are 20 grams and 7½ grams, and the quantities minted are 2 million and 3 million. Both letters are signed by Prasemsak Chareenrej, mint master, Royal Mint, No. 4, Chae Fah Road, Bangkok, Thailand.

Comments on Exhibit Rules

Dear Editor Bradford:

In 1959 when my wife, Wilma Dean, served as general chairman for National Coin Week, the late Lewis M. Reagan spent several days with us. Most of the talk was numismatics and much of it was about exhibits and judging. One thing we clearly recall was Lew's aim to standardize the method of competitive exhibiting and to overhaul the general rules of judging. In other words, all exhibits, whether paper money, coins, odd & curious, or anything else must be housed in the standard A.N.A. case or something yet to be designed, e.g., easels or frames for paper money and the now familiar deep case for odd and curious.

We have never seen this proposal in print or heard it discussed anywhere at any time and therefore conclude that Lew never got around to it before he passed away. If this proposal brings cries of anguish from certain members of the "Exhibitors Society for the Accumulation and Preservation of Numismatic Yard Goods and Hardware," few numismatists need be disturbed. The aim of this proposal is to bring all exhibitors down to the same level and give the numismatist who cannot or will not spend a small fortune for an exorbitant structure that has become so evident and seemingly necessary.

No longer is it enough to own and make up an educational and eye-appealing exhibit of numismatic material. You have to be willing to hire an artist, architect, one or two production lines in a plastic factory, a printing shop or an agency on Madison Avenue. The inference is plain. The rules should be rewritten to give all numismatists, whether they be ordinary wage earners or millionaires, an equal chance to exhibit and win.

The forum held at the A.N.A. convention in Houston was a step in the right direction. But let us not limit changes to the personal opinions of the forum members or A.N.A. board of governors. The forum or board should issue a call to all A.N.A. members, and those interested and brave enough should let their opinions be known. For one thing, the rules should be written so that the man who doesn't own "the finest specimen known" will not be penalized because he can't afford it. Numismatics is supposed to be a hobby for everybody!

I note that we now have an organization of collectors called the United Numismatic Exhibitors. Is this organization necessary? Or even desirable? How long will it be before an exhibitors' clique rule supreme over each and every convention exhibit? How long will it be before membership in the UNE will be required for anyone to exhibit? I note that at least one member of this group thinks that "One of the real problems in A.N.A. exhibit competition was that entries were accepted of displays which by their nature could not hope to compete with the best of the nation, citing one exhibit at the 1965 convention which took only 7 out of a possible 100 points as an example." I wonder how many points the guy who said that got on his first exhibit! My compliments to the exhibitor who got the 7 points. I remember an early exhibit of one of today's top trophy collectors. It was laughed right out of competition in a local show. Let this group not lose sight of the fact that some of today's top collections never have seen the inside of a convention exhibit room.

Another thing that should be done is to prohibit the winner of any first place or best in show trophy from exhibiting in the same category at the same show for at least three years. And to make this proposal effective, make it retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965. Non-competitive exhibits should be on an invitational basis and the only award they should receive is a "thank you" and applause at the convention banquet. If all this draws howls of protest, the wolves will be easily recognizable. — CARL L. ROETHKE, A.N.A. 19647

Shop Talk

Canada Coin Exchange has issued its 1966 Coin Guide, a 64-page premium list of coins and paper money of Canada and coins of the United States and Great Britain. As would be expected, Jim Charlton was more complete in his coverage of Canadian material, including many tokens, proof-like mint sets and numerous coin varieties; also coins of Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. The booklet is of good quality and profusely illustrated, including 13 pages of paper money and bank notes. In most cases only one price is shown for each item to serve as a guide to values of pieces found in circulation. 6th edition, 50c, Canada Coin Exchange, 92 Jarvis St., Toronto 1, Canada.

Sterling (Sterling Harrison, A.N.A. 30398) was robbed by 3 armed men the morning of Dec. 10 at the Evansville, Ind. shop. The loss included about $12,000 retail value of U. S. coins and large size bills, many of the coins being in bank wrapped rolls. In addition to single coins and 50 proof sets of 1957 to '64, several diamond rings and a pair of diamond earrings were taken.

Federal Brand Enterprises announced release of the 9th medal in its series of presidents and first ladies, the Herbert Clark and Lou Henry Hoover. Dual portraits are on the obverse with a reverse divided into four parts to illustrate the major segments of Hoover's career: engineer, World War I relief administrator, secretary of commerce, and statesman. It is available in polished bronze at $1.00 and in silver at $2.50 from Federal Brand Enterprises, 4263 Pearl Rd., Cleveland, Ohio 44109. The 8th in the series, Franklin D. and Eleanor Roosevelt, is still available. Woodrow and Edith Wilson will be on the 10th medal in the series.

Abner Kreisberg and Jerry Cohen report that their auction sale of Nov. 29 had the largest number of bidders ever participating in one of their sales. The 5585 lots included items from books to tokens, with renewed interest in seldom offered books, currency, type coins and foreign items. Many important sale catalogs brought record prices. There was considerable activity in foreign gold and crowns, and tokens and store cards were especially popular. A 1793 half cent, lot 3257, brought $755, and an 1856 flying eagle cent, lot 3554, sold for $3000. Bidding was strong on choice 20-cent pieces, an 1875 in proof going at $270 and an 1877 at $725. A prices realized list may be obtained by sending $1 to the catalogers at 228 N. Beverly Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90210.

The latest price list of Frederick S. Knobloch, P. O. Box 104, Williamsbridge Station, Bronx, N.Y. 10467, offers Greek, Roman and Byzantine coins and related literature.

Q. David Bowers and James F. Ruddy, directors of the Empire Coin Co., Johnson City, N. Y. 13790, have released the special January, 1966, edition of their catalog. With hundreds illustrated, coins for sale are divided into three main sections: U. S. coins, English coins and world coins. Prices are given for each piece. $1.00 buys a catalog and is refunded with $10.00 purchase. Only 1,000 copies were made, so the catalog may become scarce.

Judging will be done May 28, 1966 by:

Philip L. Budd, Fort Madison, president of the Iowa Numismatic Association;
Leo G. Terry, Indianapolis, president of Central States Numismatic Society;
J. Thomas Nolan, Chicago, an officer of the Chicago Coin Club;
Edward C. Rochette, Iola, Wis., executive editor of Numismatic News;
John S. Davenport, Galesburg, Ill., author of numismatic books on world coins.

Glenn B. Smedley, A.N.A. public relations officer, plans to be present as an observer at the judging session. These people not only serve without any compensation but also pay all their own expenses. The NCW budget is used only for supplies, postage and awards.

I have received permission to name as my assistant chairman of National Coin Week 1966 a person I have known a long time, who has been a member of the A.N.A. since 1952, is past president of a coin club which won NCW honors twice, and who has assisted me always with exhibits or any project I have undertaken. This is Paul H. Otis, my husband, and I'm sure you do not mind this arrangement since neither of us will act as judge. The above numismatists, representing four states, will make the judging decisions.

As a result of suggestions made last year, there have been some additions made in the point system, so read the literature! With the assistance of Mrs. Virginia Culver, board liaison officer, we have been working hard getting ready for National Coin Week 1966. Have you appointed your committees, written the governor of your state for a proclamation, started scheduling exhibit space in public locations, planned newspaper publicity and numismatic talks??? If your club meets after the 16th of the month, you have only two more meetings to go. If you are going to make hay while the sun shines, you had better plow now. Time travels by jet these days!

National Coin Week 1966 is April 16-23, with a theme: "Friendships Flower Through Numismatics." – LOIS OTIS, Gen. Chm., 17643 Lincoln Ave., Homewood, Ill. 60430

Change Dates on Coins

Assistant Treasury Secretary Robert A. Wallace announced the change to 1965 dates on cents and five cent coins beginning on December 29, 1965. The 1964 date has been used on cents and nickels during 1965 to avoid worsening shortages of these coins, largely overcome by the end of 1965. The date change will permit coins of these denominations to bear the same date as the new dimes, quarters and half dollars, authorized by the Coinage Act of 1965.

Cent and nickel inventories are sufficient to permit this move. However, supplies of dimes, quarters and half dollars are not yet adequate to change the 1965 date to 1966. Coins of all denominations will resume normal dating when there are enough in the pipelines to assure protection against shortages.

Production of the reduced silver content half dollar, authorized by the Coinage Act of 1965, started on December 30 at the Denver mint. The new half dollar will continue to bear the Kennedy design approved by the Congress two years ago. It will contain 40 percent silver compared to the traditional 90 percent silver half dollars. However, in appearance the new coin will be nearly identical to the old half dollar as it will have outer layers of 80 percent silver. The core will be 21 percent silver, lowering total silver content to 40 percent.

All of the new half dollars will bear the date 1965 until the shortage of this denomination has been overcome. Some 390 million 90 percent silver Kennedy half dollars made during 1964 and 1965 all bear the date 1964. The new half dollars will be placed in circulation early in 1966. They will be shipped to the Federal Reserve banks and branch banks and will be used by them in their regular weekly coin shipments to supplement the supply of circulating half dollars, through the medium of commercial banks, throughout the country.

This was the procedure followed in issuing the first of the three new coins, the quarter dollar, authorized by the Coinage Act of 1965. Production of the new quarter, which has cupro-nickel faces bonded to a core of pure copper, began August 23 and circulation began in November. In the last two months of 1965, over 400 million of the new quarters were placed in circulation. The Philadelphia mint has begun minting the new dime with cupro-nickel faces clad on a core of pure copper. Circulation of this coin is also expected to begin early in the new year.

The new dimes, quarters and half dollars are three layer clad coins because this construction permits duplication in a non-silver coin, or a coin of low silver content, of the electrical properties of 90 percent silver coins. This allows the new coins and the old, 90 percent silver coins, to be used interchangeably in coin operated devices. The switch to coins of lower or no silver content was made necessary by the growing world silver shortage. The silver coinage will continue to circulate side by side with the new coinage.

The Coinage Act of 1965, which became law on July 23, 1965, made no change in the cent, the nickel or the silver dollar. However, there are no plans at present for minting silver dollars. Like the Kennedy half dollars dated 1964, those dated 1965 will bear no mintmark. The Coinage Act of 1965 specifies that no mintmarks will be authorized until five years from the date of initial issuance.

Prior to 1955, all coins manufactured at San Francisco bore the letter "S," in accordance with the custom of identifying branch mint coins. By a provision of the Coinage Act of 1965, however, the mint mark will not appear on any denomination manufactured at this institution for a period of at least five years after the date of enactment. — From Treasury Department release.

Fort Riley, Kansas, Tokens

By

ROBERT D. LEONARD, JR., A.N.A. No. 41531

FORT RILEY, located on 52,000 acres in east central Kansas about 60 miles due west of Topeka, has a history that spans more than a century. Fremont camped on its site in 1843 and reported large numbers of elk and antelope — and Indians. After the discovery of gold in California, many pioneers followed the Santa Fe and Oregon Trails passed it from the east. The Indians responded to this invasion of their lands, and a need arose for outposts to defend the trails.

Fort Leavenworth, on the Missouri River, was finished, but Gen. U. S. Clark, commander of the 6th United States military district, felt that another installation farther west was necessary to protect the settlers. He appointed a board of officers headed by Col. T. T. Fauntleroy of the 4th Dragoons to explore Kansas Territory and select a site for the new fort. Col. Fauntleroy chose a location near the confluence of the Republican and the Smoky Hill Rivers, forming the river legally named the Kansas but commonly called the Kaw. The Kansas was navigable by small steamers, and thus equipment and provisions could be sent in by water, as well as by wagon train from Fort Leavenworth. Fort Riley still stands on the spot he picked.

Because the officers who selected the site mistakenly thought that it was in the exact center of the United States, it initially was named Camp Center. (Actually, the geographical center at that time was near Lebanon, more than 100 miles away.) On March 3, 1853, Congress appropriated $65,000 for the first buildings at the new camp, and soon afterward they were occupied by the companies of the 6th Infantry regiment. The post was renamed in June of that year to honor the memory of Maj. Gen. Bennett Riley, a hero of the Mexican war and a courageous Indian fighter.

More funds were appropriated in 1855, and Fort Riley began an expansion that has continued to the present day. Native Kansas limestone was used for the buildings erected then and later.

It has weathered well; the officers' quarters built in 1855 (one of which later housed Gen. Custer) are still in use.

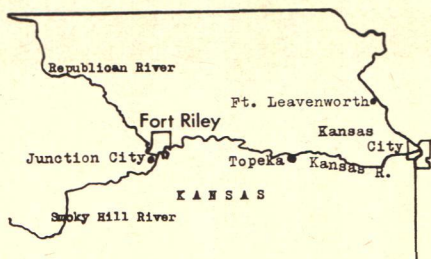

Fort Riley soon became the nation's principal cavalry base. The 4th Cavalry first served there in 1860, but left at the outbreak of the Civil War. Lieut. Col. George A. Custer and the 7th Cavalry arrived in the fall of 1866 and served intermittently until early in 1876, when Custer took temporary command and moved the regiment to Fort Lincoln, North Dakota. He never returned. On June 25, 1876, the 7th Cavalry was massacred to the last man by Sitting Bull on the banks of the Little Big Horn.

Many other cavalry units were stationed at Fort Riley from time to time in the 19th Century, and a cavalry and light artillery school was established in 1887. For years this school was the largest of its kind in the world. It was not deactivated until 1946.

The Union Pacific railroad finished laying its tracks through Fort Riley in October, 1866, but the iron horse did not immediately eliminate the need for the live one. Cavalry battles with the hostiles were fought by Fort Riley troops as late as 1890.

In modern times Fort Riley has been the site of the Ground General School (renamed the Army General School in 1950), which replaced the Cavalry School. During 1954 the 10th Infantry division, stationed at Fort Riley since 1948, was reorganized as a combat division. Operation Gyroscope the next year sent it to Germany and brought back the 1st Infantry division as its replacement. The switch began in July with the departure of the first group and units continued to come and go throughout the year. A Noncommissioned Officers Academy was founded the same year to give additional training to sergeants, sergeants first class, and master sergeants.

Beginning in February, 1957, the 1st Infantry division was changed into a pentomic division — to give it greater fire power and mobility in the event of nuclear war. Its size was cut by 5,000 men (to about 13,000), but making it more compact also made it more mobile. Many training exercises have been held since then to keep this unit and the others stationed at Fort Riley in top fighting condition.

Besides Custer, other famous officers who have served at Fort Riley include J. E. B. Stuart and Lewis A. Armistead, later Confederate generals; Philip St. George Cooke, a Union general; Gen. George S. Patton, who designed an improved saber while stationed at Fort Riley and later commanded the 3rd Army in Germany; and Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, the hero of Bataan. Harry S. Truman was mustered out of the army at Fort Riley in May, 1919.

James J. Curto, in Post Exchange, Canteen and Other Military Tokens, lists no tokens for Fort Riley as such. However, he does mention several tokens for units which were stationed at Fort Riley at one time or another, and some of them may have been used there. The following items are designated by Curto numbers:

- 302. 1st Infantry, Company B. 5c brass.
- 314. 4th Cavalry — Exchange. 5c brass.
- 316-1. 6th Infantry — Post Exchange. 1c brass.
- 316-5. 6th Infantry — Post Exchange. 5c brass.
- 316-10. 6th Infantry — Post Exchange. 10c brass.
- 316-10a. 6th Infantry — Post Exchange. 10c nickel plated brass.
- 316-25. 6th Infantry — Post Exchange. 25c brass.
- 318. 7th Cavalry — Exchange. 10c aluminum.
- 319. 7th Cavalry(?) — Post Exchange. 5c aluminum.
- 320. 7th Cavalry(?) — Post Exchange. 50c aluminum.
- 321. 8th Cavalry — Exchange. 5c aluminum.
- 326. 10th Cavalry — Exchange. 5c brass.
- 328. 13th Cavalry, troop L. 5c brass.
- 329. 14th Cavalry, troop K — Amusement room. 5c brass.

The first post exchange was created by order of Secretary of War Daniel S. Lamont on July 25, 1895, so all tokens labeled EXCHANGE or POST EXCHANGE must have been made after that date. Though the post exchange system is now the world's largest retail store chain and the world's largest men's club, the use of tokens at post exchanges has declined sharply over the years. Tokens, exchangeable for merchandise only, were issued originally to extend credit, give discounts, insure adequate change, or provide a means of giving gifts. They have been replaced largely by coupon books which can be used only by the person to whom they are issued, thus safeguarding their owner against loss (including gambling loss) and theft. The Fort Riley post exchange does not issue tokens.

But tokens are in use at Fort Riley, in the noncommissioned officers' open mess. Housed in a large modern building, and with six branch clubs — three for noncommissioned officers, three for enlisted men — at convenient locations throughout the base, the open mess serves about 13,500 men. The main club has a grill open days and evenings.

Like other N.C.O. clubs it is under the jurisdiction of the post commander, so heat, electricity, water, and maintenance are furnished free by the government. It pays some federal taxes, but is exempt from state and local levies since it is on government property. Its prices are low. The club's policies are determined by an annually elected board of governors and an adviser appointed by the post commander.

The tokens are all of the same type, here numbered and described in accordance with Curto's system:

469-5. Obv. — N. C. O. / OPEN MESS / FT. RILEY, KANSAS. Rev. — 5C IN TRADE. BRASS, 22 mm.

469-25. Similar except 25c and 28 mm.

469-100. Similar, 100 and 35 mm.

They were introduced about 1961 and have circulated extensively ever since. The total amount issued was $5,000, probably divided as follows:

$1	3,000 pieces...	$3,000
25c	6,000 pieces...	1,500
5c	10,000 pieces...	500
Total 19,000 pieces...		$5,000

Lieut. Douglas O. Rosenberg, who is stationed at Fort Riley, called my attention to these tokens and furnished most of the information for this article. He says their issuance may have been prompted by the coin shortage, and writes:

"Each NCO club of sufficient size (5,500 and larger) issues them (tokens) on request or whenever a person needs credit. For instance, if an N.C.O. is almost broke by the 20th of the month, he can sign for up to $50 worth of these tokens and use them in lieu of money until he is paid. Then he merely pays the club the cash value of what had been advanced him. The amount of credit available varies with the rank of the man.

"It is common practice for a man to get $40 or $50 in tokens and sell them to a fellow N.C.O. who uses the club (and happens to have money) for cold hard cash which he can spend anywhere. Thus in effect he manages to get a zero cost loan to meet minor financial crises!" It might be added that the loan cost is zero only if the tokens do not sell at a discount. And at Fort Riley, they don't!

Book Reviews

Carnival Panorama — New Orleans Mardi Gras Medals and Krewes, 1884-1965 by Jay Guren and Richard Ugan, copyright 1966 by the authors, Sidney, Ohio, hard covers, over 200 pp., illus., $4.50.

Here is a good example of how the pursuit of numismatic subjects can lead one into interesting and broadening byways. Some readers may feel that the first part — nearly half — of the book is not numismatic. True, but how does a numismatist understand and truly appreciate his coins, medals, tokens, paper money, etc., unless he is familiar with their backgrounds — the why, when, where, who and whither of them? To one who knew little of New Orleans or its background, and even less about the annual carnival and Mardi Gras, this book proved to be fascinating and enlightening.

In relating the colorful background of New Orleans, which had its beginning over 250 years ago, the authors have relied on scattered and scanty information, some of which is of dubious authenticity. Yet they refer to their sources and clearly indicate that many pertinent events were not recorded formally; particularly true of the chapter on the Black Art: voodooism. All of this research and recital of historical background is invaluable to the appreciation of the medallic catalog which is the numismatic portion of the book.

The catalog is in three divisions: the list of medals associated with the New Orleans carnivals prior to 1960; the medals issued in relation to carnivals from 1960 through 1965; and lastly trial and presentation pieces. Although the catalog is based on the collection of co-author Ugan, dean of specialists in this field, the authors hope that a result of the book's publication will be reports of pieces unknown to them now.

It is a fascinating book, informative to those interested in one intriguing phase of early American history as well as to collectors of medals and tokens. We could wish that many of the fine illustrations of colorful scenes and mementos had been reproduced in color. But who are we to complain — we who watch television in black and white for economic reasons, which presumably is the authors' reason for using black and white pictures in the book.

The deluxe bound volume contains a list of Mardi Gras medal values, based on sales in New Orleans recently. It is available at $4.50 plus 25c for postage and packing from Anderson Publications, P. O. Box 10243, New Orleans, La. 70121. Dealers should write for discounts on orders of 6 or more copies. — GLENN S.

Coinage in The Balkans, 820-1355 by D. M. Metcalf. No. 80, Institute for Balkan Studies, Thessaloniki, 1955. Paper covers 286 pp., 17 plates, 12 maps, 23 tables. Available through Argonaut Publishers, Chicago.

A critical review of this outstanding contribution is not possible in the limited space available here but it can be said safely that it is the definitive work to date on the subject. The study is primarily a detailed in depth study of the monetary standards and economic conditions that prevailed in the Balkans during the period cited. The subject is approached with the care that characterizes all of Dr. Metcalf's previous efforts. The volume is a must purchase for anyone interested in the coinage and economic development of this portion of Europe during the medieval period. — J. LHOTKA

Gold Coins of the World by Robert Friedberg, 2nd edition revised and edited by Jack Friedberg, The Coin and Currency Institute, New York City, 1965, cloth bound, 8½ by 11 inches, 415 pp., 2,800 illus., $16.50.

Since the 1st edition of this standard reference book on world gold coins of 600 A.D. to date was published 7 years ago there have been many substantial price increases; thus it is timely for the new edition to make its appearance. But many other changes and improvements have been made in the book.

Perhaps the most conspicuous change is in the arranging of coins by the countries of issue in alphabetic order from Afghanistan to Zanzibar. This eliminates the difficulty of finding some countries in the 1st edition where they were listed under 3 world areas. For purposes of reference, the new system of numbering coins is an improvement since each type and denomination of each country has its own number. Previously the coins were numbered by the issuing city or state, making for confusion in such countries as Germany.

The informative preface is printed in English, French, German, Italian and Spanish languages, but all other parts of the book are in English only. Coin valuations are in U. S. dollars. Illustrations are quite good, actual coin size and accompany the text (rather than being on separate plate pages) with each piece shown being identified with an asterisk in the descriptions. While the text type used throughout the book must be classed as small, it is well chosen and clearly printed for good legibility. Headings are prominent and well designed to be helpful in quickly locating countries and their subdivisions. Rearrangement and some additions increased the number of pages by 32 over the original edition.

Those who collect or study world coins, gold or other metals, should have this book in their libraries as a rewarding investment. Even collectors who consider world gold coins beyond their means, or who just aren't interested in them, will still find much valuable information in it. The tables in the appendix—especially the extensive one showing coin names, countries using them, weights, fineness and original values in U. S. gold dollars—contain generally useful data. —GLENN S.

What Others Publish

With the publication of the first American edition of Percy Gardner's Archaeology and the Types of Greek Coins, Argonaut, Inc., 737 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611, releases its third major work in its Library of Antiquities. The two volumes previously published were Ancient Greek and Roman Coins by G. F. Hill and Ancient Coins Illustrating Lost Masterpieces of Greek Art, a new edition of the Numismatic Commentary on Pausanias by F. Imhoof-Blumer and Percy Gardner. Both are now in their second printing. The new book contains an introduction by Margaret Thompson, curator of Greek coins at the American Numismatic Society and president of the Archaeological Institute of America. She acquaints the reader with the progress made since the first publication in 1883 and emphasizes the importance of a liaison between numismatics and archaeology which Gardner tried to encourage. Gardner lectured on archaeology at Oxford and Cambridge and was director of coins and medals in the British Museum. Containing 244 pp. and 650 illustrations on 16 pp. of plates, the book is available at book stores, coin dealers and the publisher at $15.00 each.

Raymond S. Toy released in 1965 the second illustrated edition of his World War II Allied Military Currency, 79 pp., $2.00 from coin dealers, or the author at 992 Hacienda Dr., El Cajon, Calif. 92020. In his haste to get the first edition out, many eligible notes were overlooked. An 18 month search since has brought to light many interesting facts and 130 unlisted notes, the largest number being those of the Free French National Committee.

The October and November numbers of The Voice of the Turtle are specials on Byzantine coins. They may be obtained for 50c each from Argonaut, Inc., 747 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

The 1966 edition of the Premium Guide Book has been released by H. E. Harris & Co., Boston, Mass. 02117, and may be found at many coin dealers for 50c each. This edition contains 48 pp. and 150 illustrations.

Lloyd A. McLaughlin, Jr., has edited Mardi Gras Doubloons and Medallions, 64 illustrated pages, published by Elm Supply Co., P. O. Box 13342, New Orleans, La. 70125. This booklet covers medallions made since 1960, which is considered the "modern" period. —ELSTON G. BRADFIELD

Headquarters News

At the invitation of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, President Rothert, Vice President Bergen, Governor Johnson and Asst. to Exec. Sec. Koch attended the annual dinner meeting of the C. of C. on December 6. At this meeting new organizations moving into Colorado Springs were introduced and honored. Both Rothert and Bergen arranged to combine business trips of their own to minimize A.N.A. travel expenses.

Colorado Springs architect Carlisle B. Guy, who has planned several buildings for Colorado College and designed libraries and other public buildings, was retained during the trip to draw up preliminary exterior and interior plans for the A.N.A. home and headquarters. It is expected that these plans will be ready for discussion by the board at its meeting scheduled for mid-February. General guide lines have been provided for the planners, with the major problems and details being worked out in cooperation with the officials and staff of A.N.A.

It will be recalled that, when the

lease was signed with Colorado College last August in Houston, one parcel of land remained to be acquired to complete the preferred headquarters site. These negotiations had just been completed at the time of the December 6 meeting. Our site will dominate the entire block, with a park on one side, a parking lot on the other, and the Colorado Springs Art Museum behind, with a beautiful view of Pikes Peak in the distance.

Charles Johnson, chairman of the A.N.A. Headquarters Building and Plans Committee, is working on the premise that the initial building should contain about 13,000 square feet of floor space. In allocating this space, priority will be given to the requirements of the headquarters personnel, including the executive director, editor, curator-librarian, office manager, membership services manager and such assistants and general office workers as are necessary. Other primary considerations include providing for the A.N.A. library; storage and work rooms such as handling the visual education slides and films, mailing of publications, duplicating and photographic facilities, etc.; a security room for safe keeping of valuable papers, coins, medals, etc.; and ordinary building services such as heating and air conditioning, reception area, and facilities necessary for the personnel.

Every effort will be made to include adequate exhibit and museum space, a meeting-reading room and other highly desirable but not absolutely essential facilities. It is expected that the committee will be able to present preliminary plans which the board can adopt at its mid-February meeting, and that such information will be published promptly in The Numismatist and other numismatic publications.

Whatever is planned for the initial building will take into account, of course, the almost certain need for its enlargement in the future. It must be borne in mind, furthermore, that part of the building fund, which totals about $210,000 at this writing, will have to be used for fixtures and equipment plus moving and setup costs.

The project is moving forward without unnecessary delay but with prudence. Much has been accomplished since it was activated at the 1964 Cleveland convention but a lot of work and patience will be required to see it through to completion. The work will fall mostly to the lot of the officers of the Association, but every member can help with contributions to the building fund, with constructive counsel and suggestions, and with the exercise of tolerance toward those who must make the decisions and do the work ahead.

RARE HAWAIIAN COINS AT DISCOUNT PRICES

Low mintage. Listed page 248 of the Red Book. Many melted, especially dollars of which over 400,000 were melted, according to the records at San Francisco. Many additional coins of each denomination were lost to the sea during a revolt by the people against the government in 1893. Few were left. In fact—during my visit to Hawaii I searched the Islands to locate Hawaiian coins and discovered to my amazement that few people living on the Islands even knew that these coins existed. Most inhabitants were amazed when I showed them coins struck by the U. S. Mint for circulation in Hawaii. They are not only no longer in circulation, but few Hawaiians realize that at one time they had their own coinage. Check your Red Book — Excellent investment potential per dollar invested.

LAST CHANCE AT LARGE SIZE NOTE — REMAINDER

Thanks to the current upsurge of interest in paper currency collecting, I am offering in this ad the "remainder" of my large size notes in three popular series: Silver Certificates, Treasury or Coin Notes, and Gold Certificates. My vast holdings of former years in these series are depleted — alas, alack! All the great rarities and semi-rarities are gone. Still, there remain some attractive and acceptable notes. My prediction, currency collectors are going to "swing" in 1966, as the teenagers would say.

Future Philpott ads will offer large size notes: Federal Reserve Notes, Federal Reserve Bank Notes, Legal Tenders, and National Bank Notes. But, brother collector, below are listed the last of Silvers, Coin Notes and Gold Certificates. Each note bears Friedberg's number, and the condition of each is described accurately. First checks will quickly clear these out, in my opinion.

NEW YEAR OFFERINGS

1. 1848 Bavaria Ludwig I Abdication double taler — the key of the series Dav. 597
Scarce in this condition Proof 325.00
2. 1813 Cattaro 5 Francs Napoleon Siege Dav. 46 variety with exploding grenades on obverse Ex-Obyrne collection RRR 425.00
3. 1600 East Indies Bombay or commonly referred to as Portcullis piece of eight test-erns first trade dollar of London. The rarest British Commonwealth Crown and this specimen is the nicest existent example of its kind. Conservatively it may be graded E.F. and was purchased from Glendining auction years ago. For photo refer to H. A. Linecar Crown Pieces of Great Britain P-82. Our coin is the pictured Pedigree 1500.00
4. 1602 Great Britain Elizabeth Crown; Ex-Nightingale and Ex-Ryan collections. As cited by a foremost authority, this great English dated rarity will appear once every decade, if that often, in the world market. Its counterpart the 1601 crown shows up 50 times for every one of the 1602. For the type or date collector of rare English we offer this lovely F-VF example at 1250.00
5. 1658 Oliver Cromwell Crown. This type Crown is a nice V.F. toned specimen.
For those who do not wish to spend double what we offer this at 350.00
6. 1913 Mexico Parral, Chihuahua Revolutionary Peso; the famous 'Bolito' 'Peso' which is the most sought after issue in the 20th century Mexican series. Rarely if ever does such a nice E.F. example as this come on the market. From the famous Brand collection and purchaser will obtain pedigree papers 750.00
7. 1896 Persia 10 Krans Yeoman 15. Of great rarity since the 5 Krans served its purpose for medium of exchange. The 10 Krans was issued in limited number for presentation only. Few have survived and our specimen is exactly as pictured in Yeoman and bears no resemblance to the previous auctioned medals of this issue.
Worth every bit of 10 times Yeoman Uncirculated 750.00
8. 1733 Poland Augustus II Butterfly Mint Set. Czapski 4663, 64 and 65, Dav. 1616.
A few historians and aestheticians agree with me that if it was not for Augustus II (duke of Saxony) having Cosel, a German princess, as his long time lover, this coin would have never depicted a butterfly as a sort of a ludicrous effigy in place of his portrait for the commemoration of his death in 1733. As it is the three pieces were struck for monetary use possibly if no more than to speed abolishment of foreign Anarchists reigning in Poland. We offer this prooflike numismatic rarity seen by so few advanced numismatists at 1750.00
9. 1841 Russia Marriage Ruble, Severin #3371a. We doubt that many of this variety exist, as according to Mr. Severin 'Mikhailovich lacked this specimen.' Being that 950 were struck of all varieties this is a bargain for someone that is lacking this issue in their collection. E.F. 875.00
10. 1914 Russia Ruble — The famous Gangut ruble Yeoman 71 of which the Mint report of 100 specimens recorded by itself discloses the true potential of this contemporary rarity. Someday it may very well likely be compared to a 1913 Liberty head nickel. We offer a choice proof 1050.00 11. 1860 Siam 4 Tical — The King of double crown rarities which were struck for presentation. The set we advertised sold well over the 1200.00 mark. We offer the key of the series in E.F. 850.00
12. 1874 Spain Charles VII 5 Pesetas Y68. A proof sample of this scarce and elusive crown 325.00
13. 1879 South Africa Djalón (Labe) Kingdom Dav. 66; Mazard 497; Count Olivier de Sanderval 5 Franc pattern issue. Of highest rarity amongst the patterns and ranks foremost next to the 1887 Kroon and 1874 Burgers. 5 Shillings which are unobtainable in today's market. Proof 650.00

GREASY THUMBS!

His hands are clean, so why worry when he fondles your favorite coins? The fact of the matter is this: More coins are blemished through handling than any other cause. And if you're as fond of your collection as we think you are, you'd be wise to protect and beautify your coins with a Capital Holder. There are over 500 different Capital Holders to choose from, and our catalog No. 65 is yours for the asking. With Capital Holders, the threat of Mr. Greasy Thumbs is ended. See your favorite dealer.

In Business for Over Thirty Years

Messages from a Numismatic Publisher: V

NUMISMATICS: HOBBY OR BUSINESS?

People with extreme viewpoints like their answers to be either black or white: no shadings.

This is true of numismatics. Some people would prefer to keep it a kind of secret, esoteric hobby.

But, especially in America, millions upon millions of just plain citizens have fallen in love with coin collecting. Rather than deplore this "invasion," we in the publishing business in Iola decided to guide, educate and assist these millions.

So have the majority of coin dealers and the makers of aids to the hobby. Here, then, is business serving a need. It behooves us all in the service field of numismatics to be straight forward and honest-dealing.

The "business" aspect of numismatics, however, is not only here to stay: it is here to grow dynamically. Millions of Americans want it that way.
